

August 21, 2019

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am very interested in the Paint Prep position posted on your website.

I would like to obtain an entry-level position at a stable employer where I would have the opportunity to work into a long-term position and career.

This position will give me the opportunity to learn a new aspect of Warehouse work.. I currently work as a cook at Flood Valley Brewing and I have a valid Washington State Driver's License. In my previous position, I traveled along the I-5 corridor to obtain and return vehicles. I have experience driving various vehicles including cars, large trucks and vans at times. Due to this, I'm comfortable operating company equipment. I work well independently and as a team.

I realize that I don't have current Paint Prep experience, however, the skills and experiences I have gained at my previous jobs will directly transfer to this position. In each position that I have held, I have been a fast learner and have progressively increased my responsibilities.

I would like the opportunity to learn more about this position.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Kane Goodrich