Dear Braun Northwest,

I am excited to see that the position of paint prep is available with Braun Northwest . I have read Throughout the Braun Northwest website and found that the work done is of the highest standard and said emergency vehicles are sought after not only in Washington state but throughout the western United States. Work of this caliber shows the professionalism that this company provides and is known for. I have always been interested in working with vehicles whether it being fabrication or mechanical ever since learning such skills during high school where I excelled at my automotive work. Given the opportunity to align myself with such professionals is a goal of mine & something I must accomplish. That being said, the position of paint preparation at the entry level is an ideal choice for me.
