Engineer

December 14, 2021

Dear Nichole Seick,

I recently learned of an engineering position at Braun Northwest from Shawn Duan; a former professor and advisor of mine. I graduated from Saint Martin's University with a Bachelor's of Science in Mechanical Engineering in May of 2021. I'm confident that I would quickly prove myself to be a valuable asset to your company and to your team.

Prior to pursuing a degree in engineering, I had a successful career in the hospitality industry. During this time I developed a strong work ethic, and became adept at working in a fast-paced environment while maintaining a sharp attention to detail. Additionally, this experience allowed me to broaden my communication skills with a variety of personalities, often in a managerial role. Ultimately, my desire to be involved in a more intellectually stimulating industry led me to study engineering and I believe that earning a BSME is a testament to my ability to learn and process new information.

If you determine my qualifications are aligned with the responsibilities of engineer at Braun Northwest, or would like to discuss them further, please feel free to contact me at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Newcomer
