Dear Hiring Manager,

Thank you for the opportunity to apply for Automotive painter prep, Automotive painter, and welder/fabricator role at your company. After reviewing these job descriptions, it's clear that you are looking for a task focused, diligent hard worker, that is detail oriented. Is able to lift and work in tight spaces. Given these requirements, I am certain that I have the necessary skills to successfully do the job.

I know my strengths will be a positive addition to any of these positions. I'm a detail-oriented individual who is able to work consistently on a project to achieve the desired results. As an example of this I have been operating a car detail on the said for two years now. I have return customers, that love the attention I give their vehicles inside and out. At my current job I have been consistently told by customers and my peers what a hard worker I am.

I have chosen these three possessions based on my passion for car detail work and my fondness for welding. I am very excited about the opportunity to learn the skills I have always wanted to learn and expand on the ones I already have. After reviewing my resume, I hope you will consider my for one of these amazing positions.

Thank you for your consideration, I look forward to hearing from you soon.
