Braun NW Inc,

I am writing to you today regarding the Emergency Response Vehicle Craftsman/assembler position you recently posted on your website. As a recent high school graduate, I am in a position where I can choose what career field I want to enter, and I have always been mechanically and technically savvy. Being part of the team assembling Emergency Response Vehicles sounds interesting and engaging, and I feel that I would enjoy this job immensely.

My previous experience was at Songbird Farms LLC, and I was responsible for a myriad of tasks, such as fabrication for Songbirds along with its parent company Magnum Power, organizing and managing the Songbirds shop and basic labor when required. I did everything from organizing Songbird Farms database for chemicals to spending hours in a field pulling weeds, so I am no stranger to hard labor. I also have always been safety conscious, and not willing to take small risks such as not donning PPE before hazardous work, walking around and inspecting equipment before operation along with other risk mitigation practices.

In highschool, I took four years of CTE related classes, such as Metal Shop, Woodshop, CAD, etc. I earned high marks in all of these classes. Due to this experience, I am familiar with basic craftsmanship and assembly as well as CAD design. I think I would be a good fit for this position due to this experience.

If hired, I can promise a willingness to do whatever labor the job requires, an open and receptive mindset and a willingness to learn and improve.
